

Tamagawa University “ IB International Baccalaureate Education Forum”
Application Form

“EDUCATION FOR A BETTER WORLD”
The Core of IB Education and its Practice

Tamagawa University welcomes you to attend “Tamagawa University IB Education Forum” which aims to promote exchanges among international educators in Japan and abroad. Tamagawa University Research Institute has been promoting research into the theory and practice of the IB education since 2005 firstly within the “Zenjin” Education Research Center and now within the “K-16 Education Research Center.”

Presently the majority of IB authorized schools (2,404 schools in 129 countries) are local national and public schools while the IB programme in earlier days was implemented mainly by privately-run international schools. This still remains the case in Japan for among the fourteen authorized IB schools now in Japan all but one is a Japanese secondary school approved by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology. However, the number of Japanese national schools interested in the IB continues to increase throughout Japan and in 2006 Tamagawa Academy (non-international school) obtained the first Middle Years Programme candidate school status in the Tokyo metropolitan area.
